A Pienie. BY MORTIMER COLLINS.

The lake is calm. A crowd of sunny faces
And plumed heads, and shoulders round and And plumed heads, and shoulders round and white, white, are mirrored in the waters. There are traces of merriment in those sweet eyes of light. Lie empty hompers round; in shady places. The hungry throw them-elves with ruthless might on lobser salads; while champegne to cheer 'em Cools in the brook that murmurs sweetly near 'em.

Ore a legues of park and forest lie around;
Wave stately shilers in the glummering distance.
Up from the dusky arches comes a round
That tell's a story of old Pan's evistence.
And now in song the summer wind is drowned;
Now comes a call that conquers all vedistance—
A dance upon the turf! up, up, instanter!
Away with quarried pie and stained decanter.

Small hands are linked, and dance divinest tresses, And agile teet fly down the pleasant glade in a merry measure: through the deep recesses. How gally trip they, you'n and lauguing maiden! The sh-ken turi is swept by silken dresses. The woodland breeze with many a jest is laden, And lips are curied, and haughty heads are tossed, too,

COTTON.

The Trade in England and America-Will Prices Advance?

The United States Economist, (New York,) of the 10th instant, discusses the cotton quesion as follows:

Advices from England show that there is no Advices from England show that there is no abatement in the extreme depression that has characterized the cotton trade for some time past. From the commencement of the present year the ride has been duller than has been known at any period since the gloomy days of short supplies during our civil war. The prospect, amounting almost to certainty, that the supply of cotton from all sources for the current year would fall below the average domand for consumption, maintained prices of the raw material, and even advanced them to rates that absorbed the profits of manuficallers. The latter found it impossible to effect tasles at remunerative prices, and were comturers. The latter found it impossible to effect sales at remunerative prices, and were compelled to make a requotion of wages, to the amount of from five to ten per cent. which was finally carried after a "strike" of some weeks duration. But the reduction of wages was not equivalent to the advance in the staple, and the result is that manufacturers were forced to continue operations in many cases at a positive loss, with the worse alternative of a suspension of work—cotton machinery being so fine and del cate, that it rapidly deteriorates when it is disused.

O course thus condition of affairs could not when it is disused.

O course this condition of affire could not last forever, and the news by mail and cable of failures in Manchester, and depression in the cotton trade generally, creates very little surprises. The fact is, the supply of cotton at the present time is inadequate, and the usual result of limited supplies is seen in the advance of proces. The depression must therefore continue until consumers of cotton are compelled to yield to the necessities of mainfacturers. The indications now are that the latter continuency is the more probable. The supply of cotten this year is not likely to exceed last year a sverse, while it may fall below it. It cotten this year is not likely to exceed last year's average, while it may fall below it. It is as yet to someto predicate anything of the American crops. But unless disasters occur, it may be expected to be fully up to last year's amply. But the excess can hardly be expected to reach one hundred thousand bales. At present the crop looks well, with not more than the usual reports of disasters at this period of the year. July is the critical month, and a low weeks more will place us in a position than the usual reports of disasters at this period of the year. July is the critical month, and a low weeks more will place us in a position to make more reliable estimates.

The grounds for enxiety in the English cotton trade donesat in the probability of only a very slight ir crease in the supply of American cotton, and the certainty of diminished supplies from other sources. Notwithstanding all the efforts of English capitalists, for the last eight years, backed by the powerful sid of the government, to encourage the growth of cotton in India Egypt and other places, the crops this year will fail below the proceeds last year. This result paralyses the trade and accounts for its depression. On the 25th of June, the stock of cotton of all kinds on hand in Liverpool was 388,490 bales, against a stock of 607,390 in the corresponding period last year. Here we have a reduction of no less than 118,160 in the stock on hand. The cotton at sea for Great Eritain, June 24, was: American 79,000 bales. East India, 520,000; total, 599,000 bales. At the same period in 1868, the total amount of cotton at sea was 557,000 hales. The following table shows the changes in the market, June 24, as compared with the same date in 1868:

47,24 The amount of cotton on hand in Liverpool and at sea, June 24, 1868 exhibits a grand to-tal of 987,480 bales, which, at the average weekly consumption, in 1883, of 58,880 bales, leaves only an eighteen weeks' available apply for consumption in Great Britain. The conti-mental appropriate would reduce this estimate comewhat. The balance of cotton to come forward from East India will not make more distributed to the contraction of t forward from East India will not make more than a few weeks' difference in the supply.

The present condition of the American market precludes further exports to any extent. On the week endure July 8, the lotal stock in all American ports amounted to only 57.933 bales, arainst a supply 85.061 at the same period in 1868. Take it altogether, according to the average of last year's consumption, England has not much more than twenty weeks' supply of ottom on hand and at sea. The England has not much more than twenty weeks' supply of otton on hand and at sea. The consumption this year is, of course, below the average of last year. Otherwise, by the time our new cotton crop begins to come forward Manchester would be very nearly reduced to its last cotton bale.

The American market corresponds in many respects to the English. Tempted by high prices, we have soid too much cotton, and have scarcely enough for home consumption. Unless manufacturers reduce their productions during the next few months, the price of the raw material anat advance considerably above present rates. We notice that the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers and Planters, at their meeting in this city last week, recommended manufacturers to curtail operations, on the ground that the maximum of supply during the interval before the new crop comes forward will barely cover the minimum of consumption. A stoppage of machinery is therefore a read as essential.

comes forward will barely cover the minimum of convemption. A stoppage of machinery is therefore i rged as essential.

A review of the cotton trade on both sides of the Atlantic indicates an upward tendency of prices. Southern planters will have the advantage of throwing their new crop upon a high market. Whether prices can be maintained depends of course upon the actual supply. But judging from the most probace estimates of production in the South and in Ris. India, the yield is not likely to be sufficiently in excess of last year to warrant anticipatious of any considerable reduction—if at all—in present quotations of the scaple.

Holders did not press their stocks. Mendathe market was quiet with small offerings. Sales 607 bales. Tuesoay there was more activity but at easier prices. Sales 2169 beles at 34½c. Thursday the market was quiet and steady. Nales 941 bales. Yesterday the market was quiet and steady with only a moderate spinning and speculative demand. The quotations are the same as those of last week. There has been an active demand for the ure delivery, prices closing at 290 for October, 27½c for November. 26½a27c for December, and 26c for January. If these prices were any indication of the market value for those months we might congratulate the planters on the prospect before them; but profits of $50 or $60 a tolle are almost too good to last log. Liverpool has shown strength this week by an advance of ½d on urlands and ½d on "rleass, with receipts of 80.000 bales. The difference between uplands and Orleans is now ½d or ¼d greater than usua. This can be a tributed to the arrival of the new India crop, which interieres with uplands more than with the be vy Gali cottons. The bank rate has be directed to 5 per cent.

There have been received at the ports since 1st September, 2,033,084 bales, of which exporters have taken 1,424,093 bales, spinners 612,167 bales; and the socks are 3176 bales smaller than at tost date. Prof. Darby. Dear Sir—naving not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Medical profession. I am only superficially acquainted with the claims of your Prophylactic Fluid, but am well acquainted with its chemical elements.

While, therefore, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound yet the distincting and therapeutic properties of the agents employed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its discoverer, as a chemist, authorize me to regard its merit as of a high order; on the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many competent judges, who have tested

Dr. O. S. Prophilt—Dear Sir—I his is to certify that I have used your Ague Pils for the last ten gers, and I have never failed to cure the Ague in a tingle instance with them. They always break the belief the form day that her has been as the belief the form day has been described. single instance with them. They aways orter to this the first day that they are given I can recom-mend them as being the est ague medicine that i have ver found, and they leave no bad effects follow-ing them, as Quinine. &c. Yours respectfully.

A. WESTBROOK.

PUTNAM COUNTY, GA. September 22, 1868.

Dr. O. S. Prophitt -- ir -- I have used for the last two y, are in my family you Liver Medicine, your Pain Kill It, and you Female Tonic, and I have no fears in saying that they are the best medicines I have ever used for the Liver and Stornach Neura's c and Rhumatic afflictions, Headache, Colic, and pains of every kind are subdued by them. After using the medicines so long, I cheerfully recommend them to any and every one, and to all that are afflicted, as the best and safest remodes for all the diseases for which they are recommended, &c.

Yours respectfully, JAMES WRIGHT. JAMES WRIGHT. Yours respectfully,

Gentlem-n—I have received your letter of the 15th of Documber, 1868, calling my attention to your (Darby's Prophylactic) Fluid.

I most cheerinily state that the Fluid was furnished to, and extensively used by, the sur-scons in charge of general hospitals in the Confederate service with great benefit to the patients—all the sur-scors making a favorable report—a great deal of it was used to the hospitals.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant, MAM'L PRESION MOORE, M. D. DR. PROPHITT'S FEMALE TUNIC.

This Medicine, with its associates, is a safe and certain remedy for all curable diseases to which Females alone are liable. It is also an excellent preventative of Nervous Blisoners, or Nervous Discases in either male or lowale. It is a powerful Nervoine Tonic, setting up a full and free circulation throughout the system.

All of the above Medicines sold by Druggists and Merchanis generally throughout the southwest.

DEATH TO FLIES. FROM WBICH MANKIND SUFFER over a large part of the globe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, incuced by the poison Jons miasm of vegetable d. cay. This exhalation is evolved by the action of solar heat on wet soil, and rises with the watery vapor f om it.—

While the sun is below the horizon this vapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with it through the lungs in othe blood. There it acts as an irritating poi-on on the internal viscers and excreting organs of the bood. The liver becomes torpid and fails to secrete not only this virus, but also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and the bile accumulate in the circulation, and produce vio ent constitutional disorder. The spleen the kidneys, and the stom ch sympathize with the liv r, and become disordered also. Finally, the instinct of our organism, as i in an attempt to exuel the noxious infusion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal excreories to force them to cast it out. The blood leaves the surface, and rushes to the central organs with congestive violence. This is the Chill But in this effort it tails. Then the Fever follows, in which the blood leaves the central organs and rushes to the surface, as it in another effort to expel the irritaring poison through that other great excretory—the skin. In this also it fairs, and the system at and us the attempt exhausted, and with for the recavery of strength to repeat the hapleose effort another day. These are the fits of paroxystes of Fever a dague, such constitutional disorder will of course undermine the health if it is not removed.
